College of Agriculture.

UNCUT WHEAT SPROUTS Sprouted kernels in the unharvested wheat plats at the College of Agriculture appeared as a result of the cool damp weather which was preva lent in July and early August. Such a condition is declared not to have been noted before in the history of the institution. As the result of rusting and lodging, the wheat crop at the University Farm is estimated to have been cut 35 per cent.

SEVEN OPPORTUNITIES The date book at the College of Agriculture shows that three weeks in November and four weeks in February have not been selected by committees for the holding of local agricultural short courses. The speakers are furnished by the Extension Service, and the choice of the pro gram is left almost entirely to the wishes of the community. Addition-al information may be obtained from the Extension Service, University Farm, Lincoln.

night. Turning out one night and keeping in the next is bound to derange the digestive tract quicker than pasture every night. The alfalfa plant contains a relatively large percentage of bone and muscle making elements, hence its value for young stock either as a grass or cured hay.—College of Agriculture.

NEBRASKANS COOPERATE The oft-repeated statement that well as Europeans would seem to own and operate more than 250 elevators. Other such enterprises are in the process of organization. Assessment insurance companies, which are cooperative in principle, number 75. These are nearly all farmers companies. There are 12 cooperative stores and 3 cooperative creameries.

ALFALFA AND SORGHUM SILAGE Indications are that excellent silage can be made with mixtures of alfalfa and sweet sorghum, according to silage investigations in prosomewhat lower than normal silage but this does not seem to impair the keeping qualities. Further investiMonroe and children, of South Sioux H. C. Hansen and wif gress, but the present results would indicate that a farmer might safely put equal parts of alfalfa and wellmatured sorghum cane in his silo with expectation of securing a good quality of silage.

SATISFACTORY MEASURE OF FARM

tracted from the farm receipts. That is, it is what the farmer received for his labor and management. In addition to the labor income he had a home and what the farm furnished toward his living.

Surveys covering the 1914 crop year show very satisfactory labor incomes. One of the ten regions in Nebraska in which surveys are being conducted cooperatively by the United States Department of Agriculture and the Nebraska College of Agriculture gave an average labor income for 54 farms of $787. Another region gave an average labor income of $1,362 for 46 farms. The remaining regions are expected to show up equally well.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting after in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

His death was due to an accident and with all the care that loving hands could give, he failed to rally from the shock. He was always prepared to serve his Master, willing to answer that call which is not for one only.

Patrick Gill was born in Ireland the 17th day of March, 1848, and at the age of 4 years he crossed the Atlantic Ocean to America. In 1879 he was married Miss Mary Conners. To that union twelve children were born. They are, John, William, Joseph, James, Elmer, Anna, Margaret, Rosie, Bennetta, and Loretta, two little ones greet him at the heavenly Throne. He is also survived by his wife, Mrs. Patrick Gill, and fifteen grandchildren, who will greatly mourn the loss of a loving, devoted husband, father and grandfather for his place can never be filled. Patrick Gillwas a good Christian, he was loved and respected by all who knew him, for his readiness to to lend a helping hand. This to you, my sorrowful friends, who stood by him in all his sufferings, I wantiyou to stop one moment, and ask yourself-, What do we weep for? What do we worry over? The answer must be, my grief has vanished, when I know our father and husband is safe in heaven, this is the consolation. For blest art thou who die, in

Lord, for thou shall have heaven. A very busy life is ended, his task on Earth is done, he has gone to the life everlasting.
